Warren Michigan All Buried at Warren Union Cemetery

Historial-researcher Professor Wesley E. Arnold

Warren Union Cemetery nearly 200-year-old historic site with at least 3,000 burials, two thirds of which are children most without any marker who died miserable, terrible, deaths from the many childhood diseases.

Everything on this website and in my books is truthful and accurate. If you have proof of anything that is not accurate, I will correct it. It is important that the historical truth is recorded. I have put years of research into this cemetery and St Clement Cemetery and interviewed many old timers. Also many of the stones have weathered even more since I first photographed them so that often researchers now use my photographs to read the stone. It is shameful that the Warren Historical Society over many years has neglected their responsibility and duty and allowed the stones to lie flat and not stood up causing them to disintegrate. Since this cemetery is now in the hands of the Village Commission, They need to demand an annual maintenance amount from the city for upkeep other than grass mowing and trimming. We can transition this area into no mow ground cover plants to end the mowing has damaged many old stones beyond repair. There were piles of pieces of them scattered around. Now even most of those piles are gone. A few of the old stones are still savable and efforts should be undertaken to raise them to vertical position and do some restoration work on them before they totally disintegrate.
Dorothy Cummings (Peck) stated that her family had to buy additional graves in other cemeteries even though her dad was a Warren Township official and her family had a store in Warren Village and her family sold land to the cemetery. There were simply no graves available. Records of other cemeteries verify this because even long time residents had to buy graves at Mt Olivet. Several old timers told me this cemetery was full by end of WWII.

This cemetery is actually larger than the present 1986 fence encloses. The road was a narrower dirt road and there is about 100 feet of land at the North back side which runs the full 534 foot North-South length, much of which has been eroded away in which there are burials particularly still borns, paupers and burials by poor families who did not have money to buy a lot or who may have suffered multiple family deaths from the many common diseases.

Dimensions in round numbers from City of Warren survey, are 534 feet by 247 feet with a 73 foot decrease at 245 feet West of the East line.245x248 =60,760 + 285x175=49,875 combined 110,635 plus 53,000 b square foot back area =163,635 grand total square feet of burial space. 1/3 of the area for adults. If this cemetery was used for cremains in the future there is room for 163,000 burials of human cremains at one square foot per person. If the space for an adult casket is counted at 3 feet by 6 feet that is 18 square feet and a child at one half of that at 9 square feet and if since 2/3 of burials was children that gives 163,635 divided by three giving 54,545 adult graves divided by 18 sq feet potential space for 3,030 adult grave spaces plus 109,090 divided by 9 square feet for child burials giving 12,121 potential child grave spaces. This appears so big because this is two thirds of the area as there were two children buried for each adult. And at least two babies or children can be buried on average in each adult space. So there are 15,151 potential baby and adult grave spaces in Warren Union Cemetery total area.

Researchers found most likely at least 3,000 have been used by burials based on surviving records and on census, population and studies and interviews or families with lmembers buried in this cemetery.

The back area of 100 feet times 534 feet is 53,000 square feet could potentially hold hundreds of babies and many paupers. Some of it was used. We do not know how many were buried there because they often snuck in at dusk and buried their baby or loved one behind the weeds telling no one except close family. This was done because there were no other close cemeteries and they did not have money to buy a lot. Bones and skulls have been found there. One skull was found there by teens and thrown up into a tree. Eventually it was buried but no record now exists of where. Having followed events there for around 30 years I have also heard of several human remains being found but because I was working and busy did not have time to pursue reaseach for details.

As to the exact number of babies and adults buried there no one knows. But what is most likely? Here are estimates figured in a couple of ways. First by lots rather than area.

If one counts lots there are 5-8 30x10 foot lots totaling 80 36 inch graves row for the first 17 rows =1360 adult graves. and 80-110 36 inch graves from row 28-49. 23x110=2,530 graves that gives potentially 3,890 adult grave spaces. There are several aisles with a few burials in the aisles. Also of one considers that since 2/3 of the adult graves have children and that 2 or more children may be buried in an adult grave add 2000 possible space for additional children. And also there were some children later buried on top of parents. Unknown number. The possibilities are that as many as 5890 babies and adults could be buried here. Again no one knows.

So as a after years research we will estimate at least 3,000 people are buried here.

Since nearly 200 years have gone by and baby bones are soft and dissolve and since much of the north side has been eroded away even a scientific ground radar will not be able to recover the exact number of burials.

Warren Union Cemetery

Photography by humble historian

The Warren Union Cemetery is located between the Red Run River and Chicago Road East of Ryan Road in the North West corner of Warren Township, Warren Michigan.

In 1833 Peter Gillette purchased the forested land from the government. Some of it was used for a family burying ground. In 1834 there was a huge epidemic and many people died especially children so it may be the first burials were at this time because there were no other cemeteries and no roads. On June 21 1845 he sold parts to 18 grantees for the purpose of a burying ground. Parts of it may have already been used as a family burying ground as the earliest burial on a stone indicates 1939 as death year and it is likely that still borns and hours old babies from his family or relatives like the Wilsons, were buried there without record or markers. Since Wilsons were family he most likely gave them a burial space on his large farm.

Grantees were Isaac Barton Oliver Barton, Ames, Davy, Halsey, Hitchcock, Hoxie, Royce, Smith, McGrath, Torry, Scott, Height, Sherry, Dinning, Johnson and others. Very few of these early families marked their plots with engraved stones. Consider that in these old days they had very large families and often lost several babies to early death. Stillborn and day old babies virtually do not get engraved stone markers then or now. Almost every family had some stillborn or day old baby deaths that were not talked about, nor registered. These babies were often buried on top of previous family burials. I was told that the first 18 families filled up their lots. Some of their kin had to buy lots elsewhere in this cemetery. 10-15 persons could buried each of those big 10*30 blocks if you consider more than one child could be buried in an adult grave area or on top of an adult burial. That means 200-300 unmarked burials of just the first lot buyers. We know that many more lots were sold so much so that more land had to be purchased in 1854, 1863,1877, 1884, 1885, and 1904. On May 24, 1884 the trustees of St Paul United Church of Christ purchased the east portion of the cemetery from the First Methodist Church. It appears that the name Union Cemetery comes from the union of these two church burial grounds as it was referred to as the Union Cemetery as early as 1854. There are many references to burials at the ME cemetery but many of those graves were not marked by engraved stones. This is true of non village residents, day old babies, paupers and even famous village residents such as the Beebe family. This cemetery was the main burial ground in this area where residents, non residents who died here, day old babies and paupers were buried often without any engraved marker. Remember it was not fenced and overgrown with weeds and shrubs and no one really supervised this wild area. Anyone could go there and do a quick baby burial at the back behind the shrubs and weeds and not be questioned. Chicago road was a rural dirt road and this was outside of the village. During epidemics families dug their own graves and often several babies and young children in a family died. Some were put in common graves and no one wanted to be around the contaminated person. When compared with St Clement which was limited to Catholics who kept good records there were 1.5-2 child burials for each adult burial. Considering that there are about 1000 recorded adult burials here that means that there would also be an additional 1,500-2,000 children buried here but only150 markers remain of those. Of course most children and babies were not given an engraved at all. Researchers have pointed out that as is true with many old cemeteries there are many more burials than stones indicate and there are often more children buried in old cemeteries than adults. Consider that the original 18 plus Gillett and other old families who had lots 10 feet by 30 did not for the most part place stones. And most had big families and they usually filled up their lots and had to buy additional lots here and elsewhere to accommodate the deaths from many diseases we now have cures for. Also consider that many stillborns and newborns were buried on top of regular already used lots and were rarely marked. Even now many families have baby graves without markers. Consider that older graves were most often not marked by stones and that the cemetery with its 3057 graves was considered full by 1945. Also ways and aisles with no graves have also been deducted from this. but remember the cemetery was unfenced until 1986 and there were many day old baby, stillborns paupers and stranger burials in the back that were not marked. So how many persons are buried there? No one knows for sure but based on what evidence we have we should consider that this cemetery is virtually full. In many old cemeteries such as this there are more unmarked graves than there are stones for graves. We should honor our pioneers and children. A family did just that and donated a granite memorial to our pioneers and children buried here in unmarked graves. It was donated without cost to the city or the cemetery.

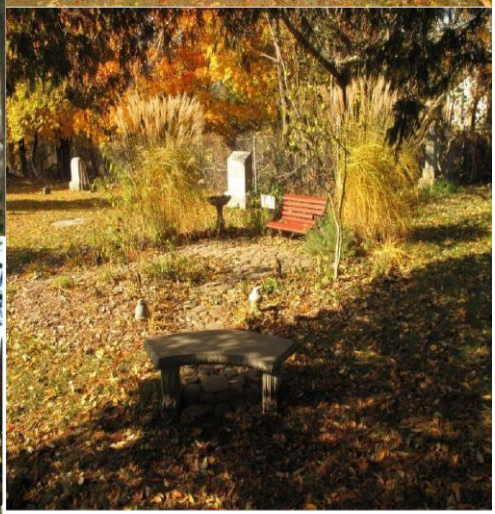
is responsible for hundreds of beautiful plants, shrubs and trees.

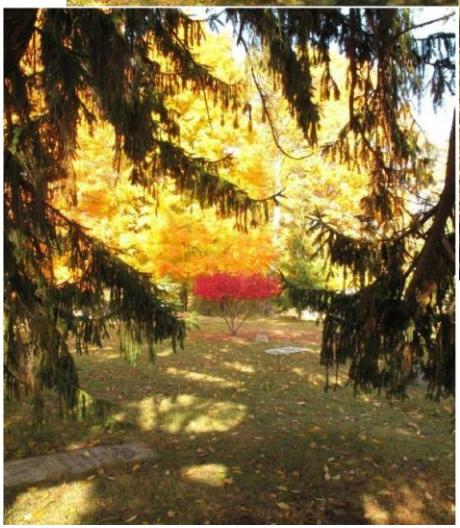
Consider that the "back" of the cemetery where many babies & paupers were buried extended further than the now fenced in area and was destroyed by the 1950s Red Run project and by erosion since. The fence was erected in 1986. Families who suffered stillborn or baby deaths did not usually want a big funeral or a stone as there was a stigma about this. The family home served as the funeral home and most families just buried the remains in the cemetery quickly and privately and did not want a marker to remind them of a stillborn or sickly often unnamed baby which would prolong the sorrow of the already guilt ridden grief stricken mother. The sister cemetery St Clement with good records shows 1.5 -2 children buried for each adult with only a small percentage of child deaths registered at the county. That is why County Death records for Warren only indicate 50% of the recorded deaths were children prior to WWI but this is probably only ¼ or less of the true number because when one adds in the real number of deaths the number jumps to 1.5 - 2 per adult death. Also the infant mortality rate back then was very high approximately 200 per 1000 per annum. Many other old cemeteries have hundreds of now unmarked graves many of which are children.

Figure of the about 1000 marked burials in Warren Union Cemetery only about150 show children when county death records of Warren show there are 500 child deaths per 1000 deaths average with that probably being one quarter or less of the true number, and the sister cemetery actual rate of 1.5-2 child burials per adult burial. AND BECAUSE OF STIGMA TO STILL BORNS AND DESIRE FOR PRIVACY MANY CHILD DEATHS WERE NOT REPORTED OR RECORDED.

That means possibly an additional 1,500-OVER 2000 unmarked child graves. Then there are many adult graves without markers. Researchers have done the math of all of the above and say that there is high probability that hundreds of children and many adults are buried in Warren Union Cemetery without markers. Some old-timers confirmed this. It was not uncommon in the old days during a cemetery walk to have an old timer say "So in So is buried there and some of their children also. But there were no visible markers.

IN FACT MOST OF MANY ROWS ARE NOW DESOLATE OF READABLE MARKERS. There were several piles of fragments. As of 2026 most of those are now gone, scattered or disintegrated into small fragments. And it is true that in many old cemeteries like this there are often then not more unmarked graves than those with surviving stones.





This cemetery has been neglected and vandalized for 170 years. St Paul United Church of Christ paid for the upkeep of the east side up until 2018 when it was turned over to the city of Warren..

Persons buried at Warren Union Cemetery

First is a list of persons buried in Warren Union Cemetery from Warren Township records. Note death records only give name of cemetery but not location in cemetery. At the end of this document is an additional list of persons who may be buried here. This is not a wish list but a probable list. As this is from obituaries, death records, family records, township records, etc. In the old days John Beebe for example of a famous person from Warren history lived here most of his life, raised his children here, they got married here, his wife and some of his children are buried here in Warren Union Cemetery.

His son was the village undertaker also. He was the Township supervisor, ran the toll gate, had a business here for many years. His church service was in or near the cemetery. A cemetery search was made and he was not listed being buried anywhere else. Also no records have been discovered indicating that he was buried anywhere else. The logical conclusion is that he is probably and most likely buried here. Is there a record not any longer as it has been lost by negligence. That is why his name will be with many others who are probably here in Warren Union Cemetery.

Here are a few remaining Township records.

Also buried there are many pioneers and hundreds of stillborns, hour old babies, day old babies infants and children who died terrible deaths from the many childhood diseases which they not have cures for such as Whooping Cough, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Typhoid Fever, Inflammation of Bowels, Summer Complaint often with severe pain. There are hundreds perhaps as many as 2,000. No one knows. But we do know that almost twice as many children died than adults. That means that the majority of burials in this cemetery are children in unmarked graves, but several had a small stone most often with "Our Baby." These are still being uncovered and many have been broken, disintegrated or stolen. Mowers have been guilty of removing little stones. After all the less stones the less chances of damaging blades.

Causes of death in order of occurrence 1867-1900.

It is a fact of history that over 99% of the graves in the world are unmarked and also that the dead soon become forgotten. Paupers were also buried in this cemetery in unmarked graves in the back or in undesirable spots. All are without markers. Because they had not purchased lots in regular area many are now behind the 1896 fence which was built based on convenience not graves admitted by old timer. This means that there are also many stillborns and short lived babies behind the 1986 fence. Note much of the back land has been eroded away..

Note many stones are difficult to read so families should check the original stone.

This list also includes recordings made in 1938, 1940, 1997 and Professor 's studies. All of these studies cannot count a name is none is on a stone. This is a list of stones and the people buried nearby. Stones are listed by Lot Rows starting as S W corner and proceeding East. Lot rows run South to North. The* symbol means that it was listed on a walk thru prior to 2004. In some cases the stone no longer exists but I have listed the person buried nearby.

Example of numbering: R2-9ur translates to Row 2 nine yards North ur = unreadable

Hs = head stone fs = foot stone cs = corner stone us = unknown kind of stone partly buried Stones are numbered in order from South to North as of June 2010. Names are listed on the stone.

More means there are more difficult to read words. If there is no number in front of name stone is gone.

Several stones have been stolen sometimes in winter for weights to increase traction.

Note many epitaphs are so worn that they cannot be read.

There were several Baby or Our Baby small markers. Most warren residents were poor farmers and could not afford engraved stones. Sometimes they bought "Mother", Father, or most commonly "Our Baby" stones by mail order. Most are now gone. Sometimes we find them buried face down. One was uncovered near the butterfly garden and later was placed under the bench as a memorial because its original location was lost. It appears that some low life has stolen that as of 2026. It has been reported during conversations that there are some people without meaningful family values that think nothing of stealing stones from cemeteries. In winter some head stones were taken and out in back of vehicles to give better traction but never returned. One friend reported to me in that she observed a person take a small stone and she confronted them as they were leaving with it and pointed out that this was placed by a family as a memorial to a loved child and she insisted they replace it which they did. She is an animal rescue person and states the animal cemetery has had a problem with people stealing the memorials to their pets. They are often cute, small and easy to put in a bag and walk off with. They also may have been expensive, which is not the issue but rather we feel no one has the moral right to steal a memorial off of a grave. It is just wrong. And what is worse if that is an old memorial there may be no family left to replace it leaving someone's grave now unmarked for eternity. Again many of us feel that is just wrong.

Prior to Civil War

KINGSCOTT, JOHN W is buried in Warren Union Cemetery. He was an early Warren township official and was listed in the official 1850 US Census as a US soldier. In those days the life of a US soldier was often one of suffering and sacrifice. That is why he should be listed on a historical stone.
Otherwise he will be forgotten.
Much of the following research was done and Transcribed by Robert and Cheryl Allen. They have done a lot of other historical work and we owe them a dept of gratitude.
Thank You

Civil War Soldiers/Veterans that were from Warren but we don't know whether their remains are buried here. A search of many other cemeteries did not prove they were buried anywhere else. Since this was the closest cemetery to where they lived, and since in the old days people were usually buried in the closest cemetery it is most that they are here. They were poor farmers whose widow may not have had money for a memorial and there were no stone cutters in this rural area.

The Lumber Industry was winding down after years of cutting of trees. But sawmills would still be around until late 1970 when the Bunert saw mill closed down. See Wesley Arnold's pictures of it elsewhere

Back in 1940 The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research did a detailed walk thru of Warren Union Cemetery. They noted that a flag indicating a soldiers grave was located in strip 20 and in the fifth plot.
This is now located to the North of the Davy plot and to the West of the Heartsig plot of strip 21. As a historian I have also been told that there was an unknown soldier at Warren Union Cemetery but no one has told or shown me where. The soldier buried there was not an unknown soldier at the time of burial. He certainly is now because no one alive knows who he was because the records were lost in a flood of the church basement. We veterans think he should still be honored.
We veterans know what it is to fight in a war and lose friends.

In addition the following from death records and family records indicate that some of the following persons are or may be buried in Warren Union Cemetery. Also see separate study about Who Is Buried in Warren Union Cemetery.

Additional info on three Warren area boys who were killed in France in WWI and buried there. We veterans think these Warren men should be honored and I recall seeing some new granite bricks I think but don't remember piled somewhere. Could have been that probably some veterans group had once placed them around the flag pole. I don't know. As I am reviewing this old book and putting it up on Amazon, as an old veteran I feel that it would be nice to at least place these bricks honoring our fallen heroes somewhere in this cemetery other in the disgard pile. Those heroes deserve better. There are or at least were hundreds of Warren veterans that agree.

Then there are a few unpatrotic village people who have in the past removed veterans stones and memorials they did not like even though placed by families of the deceased or veterans groups. I am a veteran myself (not a hero but got shot at almost lost my life several times just doing my job) but I did serve with several real heros. We veterans having lost brothers and sisters while in military service to our country feel that we should honor those few Warren soldiers who died in the service to our country whether they are buried here or not and have no marker in the USA.

There is now lots of room in this cemetery to honor our Warren heroes. It would be the right thing to do.

This is supported by the majority of patrotiotic Warren residents and us veterans. So if a veterans group should place stones of our few Warren heroes out there. This is a warning that if we veterans find out about anyone who has removed or damaged stones of our brothers, those desacrators will have some hell sent their way. That is the right thing tjo do also. We honor our heroes.

Blondeel, Kamiel Son of Charles and Elodie Blondeel, of Warren, was born in Belgium, April 21 1898.

He entered the service at Camp Custer November 2, 1917. Killed in action in France, October 17, 1918, while serving with Company H, Seventh U.S. Infantry. Buried in Plot G, Row 25, Grave 18, Meuse-Argonne American Cemetery, Romagne, France.

Gietzen, William Ferdinand Son of Nicholas Gietzen of Warren, was born February 23, 1896. Served with the 128th Infantry Regiment, 32nd Infantry Division. Died August 29, 1918. Buried in Plot D, Row 40, Grave 18, Oise-Aisne American Cemetery, Fere-en-Tardenois, France.

Jannus, Roger W. Was born December 25, 1886, and enlisted in the service April 1917. He was transferred to the air service, and was killed at Issoudun, France, September 4, 1918.

Grimms, Edward W born Sept 16, 1890 Died Jan 25, 1919. Died in Service. This stone is in Warren Union Cemetery This soldier may have been forgotten in the rolls but is remembered here. It appears he is buried here as his family put up a marker. But no one knows if there is a body under it.

There were certain families who lived in the area of this local cemetery many of which attended the local churches in the immediate area. The few that were catholic were usually buried at St Clement. But the rest who were Baptist, Methodist, Attended St Paul or were non church goers were most likely to be buried in Warren Union Cemetery. The reason was it was close and the churches were here and it was the custom. When this cemetery started to get filled up, then people sought graves elsewhere. But that was sometime probably near the end of the 1930s. Here below are the family names of very local families who for the most part lived nearby with the high probability of having babies, children (more children died than adults) and adult family members buried in Warren Union Cemetery without markers.

Bold indicates a person with that family name buried in Warren Union Cemeter these early families did not place an engraved marker. Many of these has stillbo die and did not place a on their grave. It is likely that many of these families buried in Warren Union Cemetery. AUSLEMANN ABELAN BUNSN E

While doing research I spent many hours there. During that time visitors would come and go and some noticed me and came over to a me an old man with a notebook. I usually offered my assistance in locating their dead relatives because at one time I could name the location of most families there as I had studied every grave there for two years. An older woman who visited there talked with me about soldiers buried there and of course I gave her my website card with my Warren History on it and me being a Veteran I also mentioned that there are several boys buried here who have no name on any marker, and a few of now unknowns don't even have a stone. I told her that our Warren Boys (Called boys because many were still in their teens) who were killed in war really deserve to at least have their name on a granite stone here in their home town. I did not mean to cause anguish but she teared up a bit. A month or so later a stone arrived which had my list of Warren soldiers taken from my website..

I think I talked to the person who donated the Children's Memorial in the cemetery. She had asked about children buried there. I had the sad duty of showing her a few stones and telling her that according to my studies and of other researchers, there are many children buried in these old cemeteries who have no at all and are forgotten. I mentioned the crying report psychic claiming to hear children crying. After all many of them died terrible deaths. I told her that before WWII there were probably more children buried here than adults. That was because there were usually an average of two child burials for each adult burial. Also sometimes several children in a family died the same year.

Many of those children suffered terrible painful deaths from diphtheria, summer complaint, inflammation, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, cholera, etc. The doctors at that time had no good medicines to treat them or relieve the suffering. Many endured days of painful cramps and diarrhea. There was almost nothing the families could do. And many families were too poor to buy an engraved stone besides they believed Jesus was coming soon and no stone was needed. Many concerned people believe that the children and pioneers at least deserve a memorial. I had given the lady my web site address as I do most visitors so they can see my history web pages and get scholarships for their relatives. (That is another thing I do as a college professor I help people get scholarships.) I mentioned that indeed most of the early pioneers and their children had no markers. This woman appeared a little upset upon learning about this sad history. But I stated we just don't know and it is true most of the children and pioneers buried here have no marker. I do not ask women visitors addresses or phone numbers for obvious reasons. The Children's Memorial was probably donated by this woman and she quoted me on it as a source but the stone carver left off the quotes. I personally chiseled my name off of this stone because the remembrance is to honor the children not me. I can see now that she may have been emotionally moved by the very sad history of these children.

There are several Civil War soldiers who are possibly buried there. Searches of other cemeteries further away does not turn up their name. So it certainly opens up the logical possibility that many of them are buried here. Families were poor and often did not know about later placing a government paid for stone. Researchers have discovered their names. In the many hours I spent in this cemetery (one of seven I have researched) I met many visitors.

We sometimes discussed soldiers buried here. I would show them Neil Reid's stone and VanFleet's and so on. I often mentioned that there were probably several others buried here now without any at all and that we now knew the names and they are on my big history website. I suggested that I hoped someday that someone would donate a memorial listing these men who died (many as just Warren farm boys) so that their service to our country would not be forgotten.

Well in 2011 some caring folks donated a memorial to these soldiers. They copied the information off of my historical website. The list was on the stone was not meant to be a list of burials but rather an honoring for future generations of these Warren area men who served for us. For many of these Warren men this was the only naming them. It was based on research of several researchers.

The young people today are not taught history and it is fitting to honor the service of these men.

Many of us feel that we should honor our soldiers many of which who served, and or died for our freedoms. This historian is a veteran who knows what it is like to serve in a war and to lose friends. We veterans feel that these soldiers should be honored.

I am now the longest serving member of the Warren Historic Commission. One stupid rule states all stones must now have a 42 inch deep foundation using 5-6% aerated concrete. This means that a simple four inch flat headstone requires this huge unreasonable foundation which in several cases will mean that creating it may actually desecrate remains because in the old days not all remains were buried below this level. Research has shown that the top of coffins or remains may be only about a foot down.

And there are often shallow graves in old cemeteries. Remember these were dug by hand, often in bad weather sometimes with rain partly filling the grave hole. If the body had an infectious disease or the family was ill or weak or if the ground was frozen or if it was pouring rain all of that influenced how deep the grave was dug. More than one person including a sexton informed me to be careful in digging around in cemeteries because in a few cases the remains were not far below the surface. Remember this is not a modern commercial cemetery where commercial mechanical diggers do the hard work. Rather this is a rural farmers cemetery.

History of Warren Union Cemetery

Pioneer farmer Peter Gillette sold a parcel of land in 1845 to eighteen families for a burial ground reserving for his family a large lot. The Warren Union Cemetery Association was organized in 1852 to maintain the 2 1/4 acres.

The historical plaque which is wrong states it has 325 graves that date from the 19th Century. Note more recent studies indicate over 500-1000 graves date from 19 Century plus nearly 500-2000 buried or sprinkled after 1900 that have a stone or stone fragment; but if one counts unmarked graves there could be 4000 adult spaces. However no one alive knows as records were not kept or lost. Also remember child graves are very small and may also be on top of adult burials.

In Warren Township the oldest recorded cemetery burials were at the Warren Union Cemetery, followed by the St Clement Cemetery located on Engleman West of Van Dyke. St Clement's first recorded burial was March 27, 1854. Over 800 burials date from the nineteenth century and over 1,500 burials prior to 1943. Some burials were not recorded. St Clement area Catholic families who had lost a child such a stillborn can not find any record of the burial or last rights. However this was and is a Catholic cemetery centered in the middle of Warren. But believe it or not Warren Union Cemetery could actually have more burials as it accepted all faiths and has hundreds of stillborns, hour old babies, day old babies, children, paupers and pioneers who did not have money, means, or didn't see need for an engraved marker, 1-3 thousand possible burials over nearly 200 years. Also Warren Union Cemetery is about ten years older than St Clement Cemetery which stopped accepting burials for awhile. Remains were also brought in to Warren Union Cemetery of persons who had died before cemetery was established. That large number which at first appears to be way off is in the realm of the possible because this cemetery took all faiths, all persons and stillborns, and hours old babies, day old babies, children and paupers and anyone who died in the Warren Township and Sterling area. But St Clement was limited to Catholics and one church and it appears to have 6,000 burials and its old section is smaller than Warren Union Cemetery. St Clement has also lost many years of its records so the number they give as the number of burials is smaller than actual burials. I know as I found more older records on St Clement cemetery preserved them and gave them to St Clement.

The records of Warren Union Cemetery are lost due to great negligence, disrespect and dereliction of duty of those responsible. There were also local farm burials prior to 1850 but records of these are lost. This includes the two burials at the Bunert Farm in a mound allegedly used by Indians for burials. One house on what was the old River Road (Chicago Road) has a stone grave marker. Warren historian commenced a several year study of Warren and Warren Union Cemetery. He inquired at the Methodist church on Chicago Road and asked to see the cemetery records. That request turned up the response of "what records we have none nor do we have anything to do with the cemetery now." The historian went to the local Warren

Historical Society and they stated they did not maintain records and could not find their records they had and referred me to a private individual whom could not find her "very limited records." I tried St Paul UCIC Church who owns most of the East Side of the cemetery and was told they had no records. I later began attending that church did so for over a year and became an official caretaker of Warren Union Cemetery. Discovered they have a cemetery committee which consisted of only a couple people. They refused repeated requests to allow me to see their records. This committee appears to be somewhat secretive and does not hold regular meetings. In fact I tried for over a year to attend a cemetery meeting and had important business for them to take care of but this was totally ignored. It seemed that one person appears to want to keep all of the dealings, decisions etc. only to herself and does not want anyone else involved. It also appears that this committee has ignored needed cemetery business. Example I wanted to tell them a big stone was about to topple and could hurt or kill a child. I have yet to figure out why this person or group is so secretive. They turn a deaf ear to anything they do not want to deal with but in all fairness they do manage to pay one half of the mowing and sometimes kick out money out of their huge cemetery fund to pay for emergency tree cutting. Anyway I was amazed and shocked that this church who has owned most of this cemetery since 1884 has failed to maintain any records. The Burton Historical Collection has a 1938 survey of this cemetery made by the Detroit Genealogical Society which appeared to be done and double checked with a high degree of accuracy by different surveyors a year later. In fact I interviewed many persons and visitors to the cemetery during the many months I was in the cemetery taking measurements and readings. One person told me records were kept on a board but that had rotted out and was trashed. Another told me that a church lady had good records but after she died her kids threw everything out including a big map of where most of the old burials were. Another told me records were destroyed when a church basement flooded. One man told me he suffered two broken legs when a stone fell on him while he was a child. The Warren Historical Society at one time was a social clique and ignored my suggestions that we take emergency actions to fix the tilting stones.

Just to state a fact I have done more research than anyone else on Warren Union Cemetery I have recorded, measured, figured, researched, talked with many visitors and locals for several years. Another researcher Frank Psadlo who has a Masters in history examined my work and told me he agrees with my conclusions.

That there are hundreds of unmarked burials in this cemetery there is no doubt. There are township records, church records, newspaper obits and articles and family records indicating or implying that multiple persons were buried there yet there is now no stone now marking those graves.

Researchers who have studied this cemetery and other older Michigan cemeteries have found that there are often many more persons buried than there are stones.

Millar Cemetery over on 16 Mile has only 54 head stones yet I have been told there are probably over 100 burials there if not more. At another location Archeologist Scott Akridge was amazed when he visited a local cemetery in 2004. "As many as 200 graves are located here," he said, although only six headstones exist. Most of the 180 cemeteries in the county have numerous graves that are unmarked or marked only with uninscribed field stones. Many military veterans lie in these spaces."

(http://www.argenweb.net/white/cems) And there are thousands of Civil War soldiers in unmarked graves. (I have identified a few that may be in Warren Union Cemetery from the 15,000 from Michigan. But many were not documented or the records are lost. 90,000 Michigan men served that was nearly a quarter of the male population. Sometimes brothers and family went with them and were called camp followers and were unrecorded.) And many thousands more babies and children in unmarked graves around our country. Every one of you have hundreds of relatives in unmarked graves.

Do you doubt me. OK Where are your great great grandparents uncles aunts and cousins buried? First nearly all descendants are out of that area and do not know where they are buried. Are there markers? The answer is to 99% of the people who have researched this is no. There are few if any marked gravestones prior to the Civil War and virtually none for babies, children and stillborns. And there were more child deaths than adult deaths. (Just do a Google search on unmarked graves and see for yourself.) After looking at my research and others research it is discovered that Warren Union Cemetery may have hundreds of more burials than stones now show. Here is the basis for that claim.

Consider that the original 19 families who had lots 10 feet by 30 most did not place stones.

That could be hundreds of burials, of which just a few now have stones. Note that Peter Gillette and his wife may have had still born or babies that died young and a few relatives buried on this farm area. No records have survived The oldest burial showing on a stone is 1939. Moses Wilson but there may have been others buried there as it may have been a farm family burring ground before it was recognized as a cemetery. No surviving family members knew when I questioned them.

Also consider that in the early days this cemetery was expanded many times as lots were sold and were used and the area was filled up often with children who died of the many childhood diseases we now have cures for. There were a lot of stillborns. Many mothers died in childbirth. Consider again that many additional families bought lots but did not place stones when someone died. And consider that many babies died at birth or shortly thereafter and were buried in the back or on top of other burials. And in those old farming days most had very big families and they usually filled up their lots (often with children) and had to buy additional lots here and elsewhere (We have proof of that from several sources. Dorothy Cummings for example stated that her family had to buy additional graves in other cemeteries even though her dad was a Warren Township official and her family had sold land to the cemetery. There were simply no graves available. Records of other cemeteries verify this.

There were many deaths from many diseases we now have cures for which killed many babies, children and adults. Sometimes there were multiple deaths of children in the same family and some died within days of each other. Some may have been placed in the same grave and no ever put there.

Remember that there were no funeral homes and that the corpse remained in the family home until burial. Burial was carried out quickly before WWII. I have diaries from those days that often show a person died and was most often buried the next day. Families did not want a body even of a loved one in the home for long particularly if they had died of an unknown cause. There were fears that what killed the corpse would kill others. Fluids would leak out of the corpse and there were often terrible odors.

Within as little as four hours after death decomposition in different body areas may cause tissue gas to form from the bacteria Clostridium perfringens. This is particularly true if a contaminate is present such as vomit, feces, a wound, sores, inflammation, gangrene, etc. The result is a skunk like odor and gasses released. If the house is heated in the winter or if it is summer this is compounded.

Decomposition in a part of a corpse can in just a few hours spread to other parts of the body thru fluids and bacteria in the corpse. And ask anyone who has slept with a corpse in the next room spooky to be sure and terrifying to children and some adults. There were no funeral homes and no refrigeration or embalming. So in the old days corpse was buried sometimes the same day or the next day and as soon as a grave could be dug which was by hand using pick and shovel. Church services were held as soon as possible.

Sometimes in the family members and diggers were weak or due to rain, snow, frost, cold or other problems the grave may not have been dug deeply in the old days before undertakers and machinery. In the old days in rural America, which is what Warren Township was, families buried their own with just a shovel and sometimes with just a shroud. The average grave was just a couple of feet below the surface. Even today the average id about four feet down. Even those who have dug a grave for a family dog in the back yard can attest to the work involved. It was many hours of very hard work. Now days grave heaters thaw the ground in the winter and mechanical diggers do the work in a short time regardless of the weather. Pumps can even pump out the water in the hole. When I placed a stone in a family plot on another cemetery the sexton warned me to be careful digging even for a shallow foundation for the stone as he stated he discovered that sometimes old graves were not dug very deep.

With the wooden casket rotted away human bones were all that is left and as a hand shovel planted them there a hand shovel sometimes unintentionally disturbs them many years later. In the back bones were discovered but no one bothered to investigate. Quite some time ago a skull was found exposed there. The fact is this cemetery has been neglected, ignored, vandalized, eroded, abused and I can testify that very few people care about it. Another story happened when an exposed scull probably from eroded area behind the cemetery was discovered by teens and was thrown up into a tree ad a joke.

Stillborn burials were sometimes placed on top of a prior burial or in a shallower grave.
Remember this was a very rural area and was mostly farmland. The village itself just had a few little shops but they were way East of here. This was surrounded by farmland and trees so anyone could actually come here and bury a body and not be questioned. Of course with time as the area farms were sub-divided that changed. But still people still have their drunken doings and affairs here and as a caretaker for the church I end up picking up their whiskey bottles and condoms. Myself and others have felt the children here. I have given night tours to researchers can't say we saw anything but we felt sort of a creepy presence. Perhaps it was within us from seeing too many horror movies. Don't know.
Also consider that many stillborns and newborns graves were were rarely marked. Many were buried on top of regular already used lots. Very few of these were noted on any existing grave stone. Even now many families have baby graves without markers. Consider that the older graves were most often not marked by stones at all and that the older part of the cemetery was considered full by 1945 and many families had to buy lots elsewhere. Consider that there are 4000 full sized grave spaces bur actually many more if one consider the many child graves taking up less space. (depending on grave width and other considerations explained further down) inside the currently fenced area even after subtracting aisles and that there is considerable more cemetery property outside of the current fence at the back. (more room for perhaps 500-2000 burials considering stillborns.) Consider that the "back" of the cemetery where many babies & paupers and possible secret burials were buried because they could not afford a lot, extended much further than the now fenced in area and was partly changed by the 1950s And paupers were buried in the back also perhaps unofficially disposed of. Records were not always kept. And there was no one to enforce it or perhaps even know about bodies being buried in the back in the weeds in a rural area.
Red Run project and by erosion since has worn down the back of the cemetery considerably,. The fence was erected in 1986. Before that anyone could bury, in reality, wherever they pleased when no one was around. There were many shrubs and trees in the back and it was probably possible to bury without being noticed.

Families who suffered stillborn or baby deaths did not usually want a big funeral or a stone as there was a stigma about this. The family home served as the funeral home and most families just buried the remains in the cemetery quickly and privately and did not want a to remind them of a stillborn or sickly often unnamed baby which would prolong the sorrow of the already guilt ridden grief stricken mother.

The sister cemetery St Clement with good records shows 1.5 – 2 children buried for each adult with only about 6% of child deaths registered at the county. Using that rate suggests the possibility that there could be as many as 2000 babies and children buried there. County Death records for Warren indicate 50% of the recorded deaths were children prior to WWI but that was only from recorded deaths. There were hundreds more particularly still borns and infants that were not registered. Leading to the rate being 1.5-2 children per adult burial. Considering many still borns and many few hour old baby deaths that were not even reported, the number of two times or more of child deaths per each adult death is more likely. And not even all adult burials were registered before WW1 in this rural area.

Add another possibly few hundred or so adults without markers and you have the cemetery up to capacity. As we have been told by the oldsters many times that the cemetery is full. The above makes mathematical since. But no one alive now knows for sure. Additional collection of family records will give us just a few. Also the infant mortality rate back then was very high approximately 200 per 1000 per annum.

Many other old cemeteries have hundreds of now unmarked graves many of which are children.

Figure of the 1000 burials in Warren Union Cemetery only 150 show children when county death records of Warren show there are 500 child deaths per 1000 registered deaths add unregistered and there is the possibility of 1,500-2000 child burials counting stillborns but with all of the childhood diseases and considering under 10% even reported or registered there could be even more. Consider the actual rate per the sister cemetery which is much higher, and also considering the mortality rate there are at the very least hundreds of additional unmarked burials. Again no one alive knows now as records were not kept. Also farmers from outside of the Warren Village area may have also secretly used this land for burials of babies and adults. Also considering that this cemetery was considered full by mid WWII and people in the know like Dorothy Cumings even stated that Members of her family (the Pecks) and other local families had to go elsewhere like Mt Olivet and St Clement because this cemetery was sold out.

Researchers have done the math of all of the above and say that there is high probability that hundreds of children and many adults are buried in Warren Union Cemetery without markers and the totals could easily be over 1000 adults and over 2000 children. No one knows.

We should at least recognize the possibility of this.

In fact that there are many more unmarked graves than now marked graves. This is true of many older cemeteries. Remember this is not a commercial cemetery like Forest lawn or Detroit Memorial where records have been maintained and burial practices standardized. Record keeping was very poor and not every burial was even recorded. Nearly all burial records have been lost.

The Warren Union Cemetery is located between the Red Run River and Chicago Road East of Ryan Road in the North West corner of Warren Township, Warren Michigan.

June 21 1845 Peter Gilette sold a piece of property 9 rods north and south and 12 rods east and west for $12 to establish a burying ground. Sold to: Isaac and Oliver Barton, F Ames, W Davy, A Dennison, Halsey, A Hitchcock, J Hoxie, S Royce, R. Smith, C Smith, W Torey, J Scott, A Haight, E Johnson, W Jenny, O Murry, and others. (I have to get deed to finish this) The original cemetery was 294 square feet or .625 acres. It was divided into lots 10 feet by 30 feet. That gives 10 graves 36 inches wide. But soon more land was added. More land was purchased in 1854, 1877 and 1885 making the total 1 acre. I do have deeds, maps and other documents relating to this cemetery. Pioneer farmer Peter Gillette sold a parcel of land in 1845 to eighteen families for a burial ground reserving for his family a large lot.

The Warren Union Cemetery Association was organized in 1852 to maintain the 2 1/4 acres. In March 2018 The Warren City Council approved the transfer of ownership to them on Dec 19, 2017 but it will take several months to complete legal issues. The last burial at the cemetery was in December 2016, There may have been additional burials since the last official one in the 2016.
I was a caretaker there for St Paul's for several years. Some of our families still have unused lots there. Our congregation has grown very old and the church has transferred the cemetery over to the city.

I have faithfully copied records and photographs and written down what people have told me. My books are my reputation and I want it to be that I was truthful. I have no desire to impress anyone rather just to be a humble historian who records our local history for future generations.
On May 24, 1884 the trustees of the Evangelical St Paul's Church purchased the east portion of the cemetery. The name refers to the union of the Methodist and the St Paul's congregations cemetery. A Warren Union Cemetery Association was organized in 1852. The historical states it consists of two and one quarter acres. (But it now may be a bit larger than that because the Red Run edge was vacated.)
Various parcels of land were added to the cemetery. In addition the easement of the Government land which runs 160 feet from the center of the Red Run River means that no one can build anything on the north side of the cemetery property. All that is allowed is plants.
All and any property which had been owned to the North of the cemetery was either sold to become part of the cemetery or abandoned due to the easement which runs up to the cemetery property.
Currently this easement is the River, the embankment, mowed weeds about 40 feed wide and the rest up to the cemetery fence is tree and shrub covered and now eroded with much decaying wood and overgrown. If you want to dispose of a body it is the almost perfect place. At a cemetery, out of sight soft ground possible bodies and easy access.

For over 100 years the cemetery was maintained by family members and the two churches. The Methodist church abandoned the upkeep of the cemetery around the 1960s and those folks are Guilty of betraying the trust of the community by not at least protecting the records. What a shame!

St Pauls kept up their side thru the years but the West side grew into a jungle.
The Warren Historical Society began picking up trash in the cemetery in the late 1970s.
It sponsored the first clean up fix up on Aug 12, 1978. (Actually it wasn't the first which was done over a hundred years ago) Cleanups-fixups were held yearly in May starting in 1979.
A girl scout troop from the May V Peck school help (leader Suzanne Thebert help with clean-up on May 22, 1980. May V Peck was the last burial in the west end. Was in 1980. Property owners can still bury relatives there as cemetery property does not expire.
Cleanups were held in may in the 1980 . On June 8, 1982 a "Walk thru the Past" tour and picnic was begun.
Dorothy wrote her cemetery story.
In 1986 200 letters were sent to surviving residents and current residents requesting contributions. And $3200 was raised.
Warren Historical Society voted to contribute all of the profits from their annual Homecoming raffle to the Cemetery fund. In 1986 the raffle made a profit of $1264.
With this the Warren Historical Society in 1986 installed a six foot chain fence around the west, north and east sides, a total of 748 feet. Cost of $2,557,00. Also front fence was repaired from car crash. Cost $975.
Stones repaired in west end $382.
Another repair to front fence from another car crash. $208.
Monthly summer mowings at $75 = $450 per mowing plus new power mower and gas weed whip. .
$317.
Through action of the Warren Historical Society the city was convinced that street lights would help deter vandalism. In summer of 1986 5 new street lights were installed on North side of Chicago Rd in front of Warren Union Cemetery.
1987 clean up at east end as Denise Bourjaily the mower had so well cared for West end..
Chris singletree again hired to repair some broken stones June 27, 1987. Society paid half St Paul paid other. Total bill $260..

Homecoming raffle of 1987 earned $845. and was donated to cemetery fund.

Dorothy Cummings and Pat Hallman conducted Cemetery Walk Sep 13, 1987. 50 people attended.

Souvenir map printed on parchment paper designed by D Cummings and Jerry Schmeisser from Planning Commission.

Following death of Harold Stilwell Warren Historical Society voted to install a new sign in h is honor.

New sign commissioned $200. Installation free donation from Roger Vander Vlucht who owns old Murthum house.

In 1987 a young oak tree was donated by Maria Osterloh and planted in the west side of the cemetery by Maria and Dorothy Cummings.

In 1987 a young flowering crab tree was donated by Dorothea Peterjohn and planted in the west side by Maria and Dorothy.

Dorothy Cummings had a sign painted and tagged the old spruce tree as an Indian Tree. At Christmas time Dorothy put a red ribbon and bow on it. 1987 Mowings total $450.

1988 Dorothy Comings working with St Paul to create an endowment fund for the continuing care of the entire Warren Union Cemetery.

Locks installed on all 3 gates for winter 87-88. Since no evidence of vandalism with new street lights we did not repeat this in future years.

Aug 24, 1988 received Distinguished Service Plaque from keep Michigan Beautiful for the beautification efforts in the cemetery.

1988 the St Paul's Cemetery Trust Fund papers were signed. Trustees: Merle Loch, Marilyn Dopp, & Dorothy Cummings.

1989 Nov 11 New flag pole and flag installed complements of "Woodsmen of America. Work done by Andy Plischenko and June Cox.

1990 May 5 Denise Bourjaily began mowing the entire cemetery. Ray Stilwell had the cemetery sign painted.

1991 Sep 19 Dedication ceremony for Michigan Historic Marker. Representatives from Warren

Historic Commission presented the marker. Mayor Bonkowski was present to accept and ministers from both St Paul and Methodist church were present. Approx 100 people attended.
1992 June 5 “Matts Lawn Care” took over mowing of cemetery. 1994 July Matt sold business to “Showcase lawn Service” owner Joe Machiniak.
1993 April 28 A time capsule closing ceremony was held at 2 PM to celebrate the Centennial of the Village of Warren.
1994 April The Grobbel group, 4H Garden Club started the Butterfly Garden in the cemetery. They laid out the “flagstone” cement walk; installed a wooden bench; dug up ground and planted some flowers.
1996 October a Joint work from Warren Historical Society and Warren Garden Club cleaned up and replanted the Butterfly garden. This work has been repeated most years since.
Beginning in 1998 Tom Turmel of Warren has donated and installed as of 1999 36 trees and many shrubs. Before this time most of the cemetery was only grass with only the few big trees and the new Oak and Crab apple tree. As of 2012 one can see that he has transformed the cemetery into a place of beauty. He has done all of this without pay 2003 April “Showcase Lawn Service” sold business to “GDM Lawn care” owner June Mead.
In 2011 the Village Commission had extra money in its city account and decided it was going to donate a memorial to veterans interred in the cemetery. It was placed in the cemetery with great fanfare, The dedication was June 15, 2011. Old time military band (5th Michigan Regiment Band) playing, mayor speaking and the Warren Police Honor guard. A tent set up for shelter. There was lots of guests and publicity. This brought a lot of attention to this old cemetery. Perhaps partly as a result families donated memorials to our soldiers and a Children's Memorial. The majority of descendants of the early Warren families live out of town and in other states. The families who donated these memorials were probably from out of town and they made the donations anonymously. My guess was this was done to put the emphasis on the message on the memorials rather than on who donated it. It may be noted that they consulted historian 's big history website for the names of the soldiers buried there and other information because that was the only source available and he probably had given them his web site card when they visited the cemetery. Another factor was that the historian had spent many hours in that cemetery doing research taking measurements etc. During the time he was there he stated that several people visited and he gave them a tour and his website card.

He also stated he often suggested that a memorial was needed naming our soldiers and he would like to see an unknown soldier memorial and that there were hundreds of children buried there without markers. He tells of one woman visitor who did not live in Warren who may have recently lost a relative who was very interested in the idea of these memorials. It is not polite to ask women for their name and addresses at first meeting so no notation of hers was made.

Later in the year a flag was donated by Senator Levin that had flown over the White house. The Historical Society and Levin made a big show of this but totally neglected to mention the dangerous conditions in the cemetery and need of repairs. (Stones about to fall over that could harm people especially children.) The huge Metro stone had already gone over and that could have killed a child because it was too heavy for a rescuer to lift off of a child.

This cemetery has been neglected and vandalized for 180 years.

Update 2018 the City has taken over the cemetery and most of the tilting stones have been fixed. However at least one child in the past had both legs broken by falling stone. I talked to him (now as a 40 year old adult) in the cemetery while I was doing research and he told me about the painful event.

Update 2025: the city dis managed to at least keep most of the grass cut but has massively failed to trim the weeds and vines on the fences and as a result the fences has been severely damaged in many places. Three trees fell for grew on the back fence. I managed to cut out two but the third is too big for my little saw and I am 82 years old elderly and weak and probably not strong enough to cut it with an ax as it is a big oak.I have entirely cut and cleaned all fences of the big grape vines pulling it down. But that took me five days.

I am also dispersing some no mow grass seeds. Eventually if we can convert the grass to no mow ground cover we will no longer need for expensive an harmful mowing. This cemetery is our most historic Jewell in Warren and has always needed caring volunteers to maintain it. Recently our reliable volunteers were told by the city that they could not work there because they needed to be bonded and have a permit.

Here is my post from the Facebook group Friends of Warren Union Cemetery

“Some of us volunteers are really irritated with the city because of its neglect of basic maintenance of this cemetery and because they have told at least us that we need to be bonded work here. Example: Tom Turmel has for over 30 years cared for the plants here, planted most of the trees here. weed wacked, trimmed grass, cut and removed thousands of weeds,. In fact he is responsible for this cemetery being a place of beauty rather than the overgrown weed jungle it once was. And he is also a professional landscaper. Forty years of volunteer professional work for no charge to the city. He also hates artificial flowers and removes them. He claims they make a mess. Many of us disagree Friends of Warren Union Cemetery recently placed 200 little red silk flowers securely so they would not blow away in remembrance of the hundreds of children buried here without markers. We placed them so they would not interfere with the mowers.

For two weeks Warren Union was a real place of beauty honoring our veterans and children with nice safe securely placed flowers flowers.

Three weeks later they had all been removed. We think he also removed all of the artificial flowers placed on graves by families. We think he has no right to do this. Flowers from veterans graves placed by VFW were also removed.

The city tells recently tells us volunteers we need a permit and need to be bonded to do any more work there. The same with me. I was a caretaker here from St Pauls for many years in addition to my 30 or so years of historical research and volunteer clean up. I have pulled weeds, and picked up trash for at least twenty years and recently cut and removed the hundreds of grape vines pulling down the fences all because the City has neglected to do this and the fence has been destroyed in several places because of the city's neglect.

WE VOLUNTEERS HAVE TO TAKE CARE OF THIS CEMETERY BECAUSE THE CITY HAS NEGLECTED TO DO SO FOR YEARS.

There are other volunteers. Some are just local villagers who stop by and pick up trash . I recently pissed off two Village Commission people when I stated that it was horse-apples that the city should demand us volunteers get a permit and get bonded to pick up trash and sticks. Well arrest me and put me in jail because I am not gong to stop volunteering to take care of this historic cemetery as long as the city is neglecting to do so. I have fellow brother veterans buried here and I am not going to let their final resting place be neglected as long as I can hobble around and make a positive difference.

We need to keep reminding the mowers to slow down, quit hitting stones, Insist people do not steal stones or flowers from graves. Lets keep Warren Union Cemetery, our oldest historic Jewell a beautiful place.

There arises the question of how many grave spaces are in the land area of this cemetery. That is not easy to answer. Sure in a modern cemetery you can plan out in advance how wide and long the graves will be and what aisles and paths there will be but in 1845 we only have the size of a lot.

There are now 49 rows and most likely 4 aisles. The total width is 533.36 feet East to West divided by 49 plus 4 aisles gives an average row of 10 feet which fits well.

I took measurements thinking OK a grave is perhaps 3 feet wide and ten feet long and the ends with a three foot aisle but those do not fit. Some lots have graves closer together some are farther apart and the aisles do not all go straight. The human body was smaller back in 1845 and most of the burials were children so that throws things off also. The average body considering that many died at a younger age was as an adult 15 inches wide a child from four inches to 12 inches wide. That is no help. The average coffin in modern time is 28 inches wide but back then would been a little smaller. If the average body was adult was 15 inches than the coffin (widest at the shoulders) was less than 18 inches wide and they could be in times of epidemic fitted one pointing East and one pointing west to fit in the already crowded family lot, at two to a yard width. Remember many coffins were for younger persons and were hand made. Some children were buried with only the blankets they died on wrapped around them. Remember at times burials were done very quickly often the same day or next day as they did not want the body in the home. Particularly with stillborns burial was often quick and sometimes private.

At that time there were an average of 15-20 children buried for each 10 adults. Some years more than that. St Clement had 2 children per adult several years and one year 4 per adult. A 10 foot by 30 foot lot can hold from 1-20 adults on just one layer 40 on two layers. Or 10-15 adults and with the room at the bottom an additional 1-120 children. That last number being babies. Not that likely but just pointing out the possible. And with double layer 30 adults and 240 babies. (do the measurements yourself and it is an unlikely but physical possibility.) Of course this is in physical theory is quite possible although unlikely. In practice many babies and children were buried at the ends of or on top of an adult burial. The concept of a standard grave size does not fit these old family plots. In a 10 foot by 30 foot at 24 inches 15 adults side by side or with 28 inches width 12.8 adults, with 30 inch width 12 adults and with 36 inches 10 adults side by side with room for children at the end. With a ten foot space there is four feet which means many babies, or several toddlers or a few preteens also would fit in a 10 by 30 lot. Of course we are talking of burials. It appears most likely that there are probably 10-20 burials in a full 10x30 lot considering several being children or babies. Some lots have less some lots may have more than that. We don't have a way to find. Ground radar may not work on these old graves as sometimes there was no casket and caskets and bones dissolve. Many were buried in blankets or wood coffins and little baby bones are soft and decay faster in time. Consider that some of these burials are nearly 200 years old.

Additional studies.

What about grave width. Now a study of existing lots shows that many graves average about 36 inches but some are less and some are more. Consulting history the standard coffin was only 28 inches wide on outside. Several spacings were computed with results below. Remember families were poor and saved everywhere they could so they could bury in narrow or wider space as they chose. The cemetery property is roughly 533.36 wide by 237.75 feet North but the first 27 rows are only about 166 feet North. But the actual burials of still born and paupers could have been buried up to approaching the banks of the Red Run which is over 100 feet because there was no fence and there was more land there which was eroded away in the last nearly 200 years since Peter Gillette bought the Farm in 1833. If the lots were 30 feet wide and had an extra foot on each side making them 32 feet wide with five lots wide and three feet at front and rear that fits the dimensions of 166 feet. 50 adult graves per row plus a pauper row at the back. For rows 1-27.

And with a width of 237.7s that gives 78 graves with a couple of feet at front and back for babies. Stillborns. 80 per row

The Northern strip is about 100 from the back of the present fence to the banks of the Red Run and runs the full length of cemetery was probably used for stilborns, babies and paupers but is now eroded and wild. A minimum adult coffin may have been as narrow As 18 inches. These were most often hand made and sized by size of deceased. Many coffins were child or baby sized. We cannot asssume modern standards in a poor farmer cemetery that is almost 200 years old. At 36 inch width that amounts to 3010 total grave spaces, at 30 inches 3721 grave spaces, at 28 inches 3987 grave spaces and at 24 inches 4651 grave spaces. This is total potential graves on one layer. Now subtract area behind fence if it is determined that it wasn't used, but it was used at least a little because bones have been sighted in the erosion in past. This was a good place for stillborns, day old nameless babies and paupers and by those who wanted to bury someone and did not have the money to pay for a grave. Don't think this could not happen. There were no state agencies, 911 or funeral homes to help. Remember the family home was the funeral home. The body remained in the home until buried. Would you want to keep a body in your house especially if it might be infected and a threat to your family and children. Remember this was a rural area and did not necessarily have a farmhouse nearby. A deceased could be brought by farm wagon especially stillborns just after dusk and buried in the back behind shrubs without being noticed. This is not without possibility and a few old times indicated that their family had burials there yet there is no record of a lot being purchased and in fact lots were all sold out at that time.

The row with most burials is Row 40 totals: probable persons based on stones 38; total graves 66; total unmarked graves 28 .

Row 49 would have 95 graves at 30 inch spacing 79 at 36 inch 101 at 28 inch and 118 at 24 inch grave spacing.

Row 28 would have 95 graves at 30 inch spacing 79 at 36 inch 101 at 28 inch and 118 at 24 inch grave spacing.

Row 27 would have 66 graves at 30 inch spacing 55 at 36 inch 71 at 28 inch and 83 at 24 inch grave spacing.

Row 2 would have 57 graves at 30 inch spacing 47 at 36 inch 54 at 28 inch and 74 at 24 inch grave spacing.

Row 1 is not counted as it has been intruded upon by West property owner. And what is cemetery property and what was cemetery property is unknown without a survey. The deed states the line is straight but now his land encroaches into the cemetery for his drainage. And his drainage may be responsible partly for the severe erosion at the back of the cemetery.

If the body had an infectious disease or the family was ill or weak or if the ground was frozen or if it was pouring rain all of that influenced how deep the grave was dug.

More than one person including a sextons from other cemeteries informed me to be careful in digging around in old cemeteries because in many cases the remains were not far below the surface.
Babies and stillborns were often not buried very deep especially if burial was done by a weak family member, or during winter or stormy weather. Remember in the old days there were no undertakers, or grave digging machines. Graves were dug by family members the same or next day regardless of weather. So to answer the question of how deep are the remains the answer is we don't know and I am not gong to dig to find out.
Yes many remains were not buried real deep. A few of years ago workers reported what appeared to be tops of coffins only about a foot deep.
And the hundreds of children - Let them rest in peace.
Warren Union Cemetery is our Historical Jewel. Lets at least maintain it and preserve the stones and honor our heritage.
